

... Contents

Shouting for Scouting is divided into the following sections:

... Why bother?

Who is Shouting for Scouting for?

How to use Shouting for Scouting

... 1 Blow your own trumpet

Some background facts on Press and PR work

- 1.1 Some key points to remember
- 1.2 The two point test
- 1.3 Sad but true
- 1.4 And we wonder why we have a problem?
- 1.5 So what can we do to sort things out?

... 2 The power of pictures

How to take and use images to support your work

- 2.1 Be your own press photographer!
- 2.2 A picture paints a thousand words
- 2.3 What makes a good image?
- 2.4 How to do it - a six point plan
- 2.5 If at first you don't succeed, try and try again!

... 3 Have I got news for you!

Getting your story out there

- 3.3 What makes a good story?
- 3.4 How to package it properly
- 3.5 The press release
 - How it's written
 - Layout
 - The final check
 - Sending it on its way
 - Following up
 - Say thank you!

... 4 The mighty media

Hints and tips on improving your chances of getting noticed

- 4.1 Increasing your chances of success
- 4.2 Programme ideas

... 5 Lights, camera, action!

Appointing the right people to help make it happen

- 5.1 Job description: Group Media Relations Adviser (GMRA)
- 5.2 Job description: Media Development Manager (MDM)
- 5.3 How do we go about getting good news stories?
- 5.4 Maximising coverage

... 6 Meeting your deadline

Hints and tips to make sure you get your material ready on time

- 6.1 Getting organised
- 6.2 The countdown to publicity?

... 7 So does it work?

Examples of positive images created by Scout Groups

- 7.1 Examples of good publicity
- 7.2 And finally

... The end bit

Corporate templates to help you do your job

Editor's note

Although this document refers to media work carried out in the Group, this term is used only for convenience. The material is equally relevant to media work carried out in the District, County or Area.